GEN. OYAMA WAS THERE

Jap Field Marshal Effectually Spoiled Kuropatkin's Plan.

Advance Undertaken as a Diversion Turned Out to be a Disaster.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—General Kuropatkin's attempt to break through the Japanese left wing and outflank Field Marshal Oyama's position on the Shakhe river, seems to have failed entirely. Few details, however, are available beyond the information contained in the official dispatches. Field Marshal Oyama, as at the battle of the Shakhe river, appears to have answered the Russian advance with a counter offensive movement; but no great disposition was shown to carry the war far into the territory held by the Russians.

At the war office there is an inclination to lay the chief blame for the failure of the movement to sudden change of the weather, to intense cold, 20 degrees below zero, with a high wind which drifted the snow and rendered it hazardous to expose the troops to camping in the open plain, and also impeded the transportation of guns, supplies and the wounded. The operation entrusted to the second army, under General Gripenberg, was the capture of Sandepas, which, once in Russian hands, would serve as a pivot for a flanking movement against Field Marshal Oyama, but Sandepas proved too hard a nut to crack, and the Japanese, taking advantage of the check of the Russians, hurried up their reinforcements and assumed the defensive on the Hun river as well as along the railroad and the great Mandarin road. The Russians, however, appear to have been completely successful in the defense, repulsing all the Japanese attacks.

Under the circumstances General Gripenberg decided not to press the attempt to storm Sandepas, which is situated in a flat country and therefore more difficult to take by assault than a position in a hilly country. Owing to the flat trajectory and the enormous penetration of modern projectiles, the capture of the outer line of trenches on Thursday entailed heavy casualties. There is no official estimate of the losses, but it is expected that some thousands on both sides were killed or wounded.

The news of the defeat, coming at this time, is especially hard for the government. The popular idea continues to be that the advance was undertaken in order to divert the attention of the people from the events in European Russia.

THE BRITONS ARE AROUSED

Russia Will Have Several Things to Explain to Offended England.

London, Jan. 31.—Reports of continued acts of hostility to Great Britain and citizens of this country in Russia are causing considerable perplexity and anxiety in official circles in London. At the foreign office there is evident apprehension of another popular anti-Russian outburst here, and while diplomats say there is no doubt that full satisfaction will be given for the Warsaw affair, the newspapers are unanimous in condemnation of Russia and attribute all incidents to anti-British sentiment. At the foreign office it was intimated that these accumulative evidences of hostility, whether accidental or intentional, are causing much apprehension, and that it will be necessary for the Russian government to give full and prompt explanation, or otherwise popular sentiment in the United Kingdom might create a serious situation. It was pointed out that while the injured consul at Warsaw, Mucukain, is merely an interpreter and native clerk in the consulate, that fact made no difference and that it would be necessary to prove that the affair was not the result of the publication of the objectionable notices concerning which Ambassador Hardinge already has protested officially.

A SERIOUS SITUATION.

The Conditions at Warsaw Presage Another Violent Outbreak.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—Interest has been transferred entirely from St. Petersburg and Moscow to Warsaw. Lodz and Libau, where a state of siege has been proclaimed. Warsaw is the chief center of interest on account of the rioting there Sunday and Sunday night, when at least 160 persons were killed or wounded. The strike continues unabated and business is paralyzed. In Warsaw, however, the crisis is by no means passed and there is great apprehension here. The Warsaw demonstrators evidently are in an ugly mood. The public reprimand administered to Deputy Chief of Police Roudneff of Moscow on account of the posting of the anti-British telegram in that city, has been delivered, and in government circles it is thought to be severe enough to satisfy British opinion. It is thought that this step, together with circulating the reprimand in provincial administrations, will prevent further attacks or insinuations against foreigners and will remove the incident from the realm of diplomacy.

Work is being generally resumed. In Moscow the men's demands have been partially conceded and all the railroad workshops have resumed operations. The strike has ended at Saratoff. At Libau some of the strikers have returned to work. No further extensive strikes are reported at any fresh centers, nor are there disorders except at Warsaw.

TRAMPS MADE TO SHOVEL COAL

Shelbyville Republican.

For the past ten or fifteen nights, Sheriff Thomas Newton has been bothered with a large number of tramps that call at the county jail for a night's lodging. Sometimes as many as eight persons will call during the night for lodging, but in every case, the applicants are turned down, unless they are aged or badly crippled. Many times the local officers, when they are asked by these men for shelter during the night, direct them to the power house, north of town. They are then made to shovel coal about half the night and never spend but one night at that place. Many of the surrounding cities are establishing stone piles and this class of people are put to work on them. A stone pile in this city would very shortly rid the town of tramps.

WHISKEY BREATH IS UNDER A BAN

The young ladies of Hagerstown have taken the initiative in fighting the drinking element which has been in the habit of attending dances and other social functions. Young men attended dances with the "whisky breath," which is very distasteful to young ladies. The up-shot of the whole business was the beginning of the crusade against the liquor drinkers. The girls formed a club designated as the L. S. F. S. Dancing club.

Each member when she learns that some one attending the dance has been sipping the flowing bowl, immediately informs the executive committee and the offending guest is quietly told to get his hat and coat and then he is politely requested to get busy with the door.

CAUGHT IN A TRAP

Riga, Jan. 31.—The official report of the number killed and wounded in the riots here is far below the actual number, since it only included those delivered at the hospitals, while unknown numbers lost their lives by drowning. When the soldiers fired on the crowd many rushed down the rocky shore to escape across the river on the ice, which broke, engulfing them. A great snowstorm was prevailing at the time and the temperature sank at night, causing the river to freeze over again and in consequence no bodies have been recovered.

JURY GOES TO THE PREMISES

Prisoner Also Visits the House Where the Crime Was Committed.

The Victim's Mother and Others On the Stand in the Sherman Case.

The murder trial of Charles V. Sherman was continued at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The first called was Mrs. Connery, mother of Mrs. Sherman. In the cross examination it appeared that it was the object of the defense to give the impression that the Connerys were frequently in trouble. Mrs. Sherman had been known at school as "Edna May Connery." She was married to her first husband at the age of 16, divorced before the age of 17 and she had also secured a divorce from her second husband, named Stedding. Mr. Bickley tried to have witness say that she had been several times arrested, but objection was sustained to answers being given to questions on these and other family matters. It was endeavored to have the witness say her daughter was large and muscular. Witness said she was fleshy but did not, to her knowledge, weigh 180 pounds.

The cross examination sought to show that Mrs. Sherman had been divorced from her first two husbands as the result of her disposition. The questions then led so far into the Connery family history that the court felt called to protest by saying that witness was not on trial.

The next witness called was Mrs. Mamie Bunting, who lives on Sycamore street in Hamilton, near where the Shermans resided when Mrs. Sherman was killed. She described having seen Sherman come home, of her hearing him call and of going over when he said, "Oh Mrs. Bunting, I have killed Mamie."

The sister of Sherman, Mrs. Joseph Harrold, accompanied by a brother, Wade Sherman, both of this city, entered the court room while Mrs. Bunting was on the stand. When Sherman saw her he rose and met her affectionately, kissing her and placing his arm about her. For a few moments, it is said, Mrs. Harrold appeared to be deeply moved by the feelings occasioned by their meeting.

In the cross examination of Mrs. Bunting the defense tried to have it shown that Mrs. Bunting was so affected by the ordeal she went through that she didn't know anything she said or what she did for several hours, part of which time she lay overcome at a neighbor's house. That afternoon Mrs. Sherman had said that they could look for a big fight that night. Witness said she had been told by Mrs. Sherman of her having quarrelled. The State endeavored to show that Mrs. Bunting's original statements were correct, while the defense aimed to have it shown that witness might be mistaken as to the nature of the noise she heard, etc. After Mrs. Bunting had been excused, court took the noon recess a few minutes before twelve.

Immediately after court convened in the afternoon a recess was taken to allow the jury to visit the premises where Mrs. Sherman was killed, where they went, in company with the lawyers of each side, Sherman himself, who was in charge of the jailer and several others.

After acquainting themselves with the premises the party returned and court was resumed the middle of the afternoon.

The jury simply viewed the scene at the Sherman home. Nothing was said. Mayor Bosch, of Hamilton, took the stand at 2:30 p. m.

TIMELY DISCOVERY

Paris, Jan. 31.—The police discovered a supposed bomb with a tube attached containing a lighted fuse in front of the house of Prince Troubetzkoy, an attaché of the Russian embassy here. The police extinguished the fuse and informed the authorities, who are investigating the affair.

WATSON'S TARIFF BATTLE IS OVER

The Tariff on Philippine Sugar and Tobacco Will Not be Reduced Now.

Louis Ludlow, the Washington correspondent to the Indianapolis Star says: Congressman James E. Watson's battle with the so-called sugar trust has been brought to an end at the close of the first round by Senator Teller, of Colorado. Mr. Watson now admits that there will be no legislation at this session in the line of reducing the tariff on sugar and tobacco between the Philippines and the United States.

Mr. Watson was very active in an effort, first to reduce the tariff on these articles to 25 per cent. of the Dingley rates and then, when he saw this could not be done, to bring about a compromise on 50 per cent. of the Dingley rates. He got the Speaker to assent to his compromise proposition and it looked as if clear sailing were ahead when, all at once, Senator Teller, full panoplied, jumped onto the arena.

"This Congress is not going to take any action toward reducing the tariff between this country and the Philippines," said Mr. Watson today.

"Senator Teller, whose State contains some big sugar refineries, has served notice that he will not allow any such legislation to pass, which means, if necessary, he will exercise the ancient senatorial privilege of talking the measure to death. What can be done in the next Congress I do not know, but I sincerely hope that some time there will be free trade between the United States and the Philippines. The United States should pursue one of the two courses toward the Philippines—either it must give them independence or establish free trade with them."

TEAMSTERS STRIKE

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Nine hundred lumber teamsters employed by the big lumber yards of Chicago decided to go on strike because the employers refused to grant a demand for an increase in wages of fifty cents a day. Over 100 firms, members of the Lumbermen's association, will be affected by the strike.

ELECTION FRAUDS

Denver, Col., Jan. 31.—The examination of the ballots in this county on behalf of Peabody has now been completed, 104 ballot-boxes having been opened. The experts' report shows that 29,141 votes were cast in these 104 precincts, of which 19,161 were for Adams and 9,311 for Peabody. The experts reported that 7,808 of these Democratic ballots and 1,220 Republican ballots were fraudulent, as they were written by from one to four persons.

BETTER POLICE PROTECTION

Citizens Think City Should Have Better Protection at Night.

Two Policemen, it is Believed, Are Not Enough for a City Like Rushville.

A great many questions have been asked regarding the night police protection in Rushville and a number of persons have expressed themselves as desiring better police protection at night. When town marshal Craig and policeman Gordon go to their homes at night the residence portion of the city is without police protection in any sense of the word. People who believe that Thomas Scanlan, can watch the whole town are laboring under a mistake. Mr. Scanlan is hired to make the rounds of the business houses and keep a sharp lookout for fires, burglaries and things of that sort. It is impossible for him to get out into the residence portion of the city. Although he has been given police powers, he can only look after affairs in the down town district.

There has been more robberies and drunken rowdism in this city during the past year than in any one time in the city's history and the two policemen have had their hands full.

Messrs. Craig and Gordon have remained on duty early and late, but they like others need their sleep.

Last night about six o'clock a man attempted to hold up one of our prominent citizens on the Main street of the town and in the heart of the city. He evidently had mistaken this man and fled when he was told to "vamoose."

There was a fight reported, which it is said, took place in a saloon about 11 o'clock last night, but there has, as yet, been no arrests.

Rushville is perhaps the only town in the State of this size and these pretensions, that has no night force. The town marshal and his aid are supposed to be on duty about twenty-four hours a day, but no human being can stand up under those conditions.

The police have even been without telephones in their residences and the people have been at a loss to know where to get police during the night. The city council should take this matter up at its meeting tonight. Citizens are complaining of the police protection and it should be strengthened.

THE LECTURE

Immense Audience G greets Dewett Miller at St. Paul's M. E. Church.

The auditorium of St. Paul's M. E. church last night was packed with people, gathered together for the purpose of hearing Dewett C. Miller, the noted lecturer, who delivered his lecture, "Love, Courtship and Matrimony," as the fourth number of the Rushville lecture course.

The audience had the pleasure of listening to one of the finest talks given in this city for years. Mr. Miller is possessed with the power of drawing his audience on with a sensible line of thought and then surprising it with some unlooked for outbreak of wit and humor. He is able to draw from his hearers the closest of attention, and at several times last night while he was picturing some bit of home life, the house was so still that the slightest rustle could be heard distinctly throughout the entire room. Mr. Miller's anecdotes were good. His sound sensible arguments appealed to his audience in a forcible manner and his criticisms especially of throwing rice and other things equally as unnecessary at bridal parties, met with approval. Mr. Miller is popular with Rushville people and is most welcome here again.

A RECEPTION

Rushville Girl Attends Sorosis Reception at Franklin, Indiana.

The chapter of the Alpha Gama Alpha Sorosis at Franklin, Ind., held their semi-annual reception recently at the home of Mrs. E. E. Miller, in that city. The occasion was the introduction of Mrs. Lucy Howe Hall, as patroness of the society.

The house decorations were quite elaborate and very beautiful. Pink roses, the fraternity flower, were used in the dining room, and the parlor and music room were decorated in pink and white carnations. Music was furnished by Schnur and Busch, of Columbus. Elegant refreshments were served to about four hundred guests.

Miss Nelle Winship, of this city; Miss Adelaide Whitney, of Indianapolis, and Miss Ethel Damasters, of Shelbyville, were the guests from out of town.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY

(With apologies to the Ananias club)—"One woman who had the idea that hens could be fed cheaper and made to do as well—tried the idea of putting saw dust in said hens' feed. They seemed to enjoy it, and the woman, taking courage, began increasing the proportions till all the mash feed was sawdust. Then she set a hen and in due course of time all the eggs hatched, but imagine her surprise when she came to take the hen and her brood off the nest—three chicks had wooden legs and the balance were woodpeckers."

RUSHVILLE IND. JAN. 31, 1905

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the Indiana Re- publican Editorial Asso- ciation.

The Indiana Republican Editorial Association in 28th annual convention at Indianapolis, January 27th, 1905, send greeting to the 'Republican Press' throughout the State and Nation and congratulate the people of Indiana and all the States upon the triumphant endorsement of Republican principals and policies at the last November election.

The election of Roosevelt and Fair banks and a Republican Congress by unprecedented majority attests the people's confidence in the leadership and policies of the party of Lincoln and McKinley in the most gratifying manner. It emphasizes also the belief and expectation of the American people in the party of deeds for public welfare that must not be disappointed.

Resolved, That we endorse the policies of President Roosevelt and commend his recommendations to Congress as to tariff revision along protective lines, and we further approve of his recommendations relative to the regulation of railroad freight rates.

Resolved, That we endorse the wise and honest administration of Ex-Governor Durbin in State affairs and commend his high ideals as expressed in his last message. We hail the now fully inaugurated administration of Governor J. Frank Hanly with our enthusiastic admiration and loyal support as representatives of the party press, Governor Hanly, Lieutenant Governor Miller and a Republican Legislature were given to Indiana as the result of the last election, attesting as never before the people's faith in the justice, wisdom and fidelity of the party of Morton and Mount to the State's best interests. We urge the fulfillment of every just expectation from the party's representatives thus implied, and hereby express our full confidence in the integrity, high purpose for the right and solicitude regard for Indiana's prestige and honor of Governor Hanly, Lieutenant Governor Miller and of members of the Senate and House of Representatives and of our State officers. Their determination to keep Indiana in the fore front of the galaxy of the States has the plaudits of the people of Indiana and the loyal support of the Republican Press.

Resolved, That we urge the State General Assembly to favorable action upon the suggestions of Governor Hanly in his inaugural address, and in messages thus far sent to the legislature. We favor especially his recommendations as to our State benevolent and reformatory institutions; his suggestions as to a State Asylum for epileptics and for the carrying out of scientific measures for the cure and eradication of the tuberculosis in the human family, a result possible, according to experiments in other States and the assurances of trustworthy medical and scientific authorities. It is a trite saying that "Public health is Public Wealth," and the State may well afford to invest for the certain promotion of the people's health and relief.

Resolved, That we favor the enactment of a law by the present Legislature creating a railroad commission in Indiana for the better regulation of railroad freight rates and pledge our support to such a measure.

Resolved, That we favor the retention of the Nicholson Law, regulating the liquor traffic with the added amendment recommended and urged by Governor Hanly making a valid remonstrance against licenses stand good for two years. This protection for the Home and State we demand for the peace and happiness of communities.

Resolved, That we favor every needed measure and appropriation in favor of the advancement of the State's agricultural, industrial, mining and general public welfare at the hands of the Legislature, keeping in view a wise economy as to taxation, yet allowing nothing to be neglected that will keep Indiana in the van guard of the commonwealth of the American Union.

Resolved, That we send greetings of respect, confidence and fellowship to Vice President-elect, Charles Warren Fairbanks, to our U. S. Senators, Albert J. Beveridge and James A. Hemenway, and to our trusted Representatives in Congress, to all of whose efforts for public welfare and the doctrines of the Republican party, we point with pride, and whose efforts in the future shall have our loyal support.

Proud of Indiana's history and trusted public men of all political faiths, we take special pride in the statesmen and publicists of our own party from Henry S. Lane to J. Frank Hanly, commending their statesmanship, patriotism and high courage for the right to the emulation of the rising generation, the splendid youth and young manhood and womanhood who are soon to assume control of public affairs in the new day now dawning for State and Nation.

MR. SHERRICK DETERMINED

State Auditor Is Busy Pushing His Tax Ferret Bill.

Indianapolis, Jan. 31.—Auditor of State Sherrick has redoubled his energy to secure the passage of his tax ferret bill. He is taking the matter up personally among the members of the house, before which the bill is now pending. Many, it is said, have changed their opinions since he explained the real object of the measure. Tax ferrets, bankers and members of the trust companies that are fighting the bill have been urging as a strong point against it that it would give the auditor a grant of $100,000 year. The purpose of the bill, so the auditor explains, is to enable him to employ travelling deputies to locate property on which taxes are not paid and have it put on the tax duplicates. He would exact a fee of 20 per cent for the work, out of which the deputies would receive their salary and expenses. The individual ferrets charge 40 per cent of the amount collected for their work. Mr. Sherrick said that if anyone thought he is to have a graft out of the passage of the bill, that he will not object if the legislature places the new ferret department in charge of the treasurer or any other state official it should select. He said the chances for passage of the bill are hourly growing brighter.

Senator Moore of Greencastle has introduced a bill that aims at the alleged insurance combination, the purpose being similar to that embodied for the regulation of the business of the railroads by the railway commission bill now pending. The bill authorizing an appropriation of $35,000 for a monument in honor of the late Oliver P. Morton was advanced to third reading after it was amended to provide that but $6,000 shall be available this year. Senator Coats' bill limiting to six years the time for placing omitted property on the tax duplicate was amended to read twelve years and advanced to third reading. Senator McCain's bill to increase the salary of the secretary of the state board of health to $3,000 a year was made a special order of business for tomorrow morning.

It is rumored that the retail liquor men of the state are quietly but firmly opposing the passage of the Ruick bill to permit the playing of baseball games on Sunday afternoons. They fear that the games would take business away from them. Inasmuch as it is quietly believed that Governor Hanly will not sign any bill to permit Sunday games, many of the church people are not making such strenuous opposition as they did two years ago. The committee to which the bill was referred will probably make a report tomorrow or next day.

Senator Crumpacker's automobile bill was made a special order for this afternoon. Senator Goodwine's bill for an appropriation for a new institution for the deaf and dumb here has been advanced, as was Senator Park's bill prohibiting the sale or manufacture of cigarettes or cigarette paper in Indiana. The Crumpacker bill was agreed on by many automobilists and the roads committee. It will probably pass both branches.

Boy Stabs Companion.

Indianapolis, Jan. 31.—While defending his little brother from the abuse of a playmate Willie Mack, aged thirteen, was stabbed to the heart and killed by John Cahill, aged thirteen. Young Mack remonstrated with Cahill for abusing the younger child, and in the boyish fight that followed Cahill drew his knife and struck it deep into Mack's side. The stricken boy died almost instantly. Cahill is in jail, charged with murder, the youngest boy who has ever been arrested on this charge in Indianapolis. He was put in care of the matron at the station and will be held there until his trial.

THE FOURTH WEEK

Excellent Progress Has Been Made In the Work of the General Assembly.

THOUGHTFUL CONSIDERATION

Has Been Given to the More Important Measures Before the Legislature, Some of Which Are Now Well Advanced—Lawmakers Are Proceeding Carefully—The Session's Work to Date.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, Jan. 31.—With the general assembly closing the fourth week of its session, there is a disposition in some quarters to express astonishment because the output of finished legislation up to this time is no larger. It would, however, be a reflection upon the legislature, rather than an evidence of its good intentions, if many measures of general application and large importance had as yet found their way to the governor's table. The real work of the session up to this time has necessarily been done in the committees. Speaker Reed called the various committees of the national house of representatives "little legislatures," and the term is to a degree applicable to the committees of the general assembly, although it is true that a report on a bill has more weight in congress than in a state legislature. A great deal of vicious and ill-considered legislation as a matter of fact, however, meets an inglorious end in committee. The value of a general assembly is to be judged as much by what it refuses to do as by what it really accomplishes in the matter of new legislation. Bills have been going into the hopper by scores ever since the opening day of the general assembly, and if all of the legislative propositions advanced were to be accepted by the general assembly, the acts of 1905 would certainly be fearfully and wonderfully made. So far as the more important measures, of which there are a number pending, are concerned, they have already been made the subject of serious study in committee, and from now on reports upon them will be reaching the general assembly.

Session's Work to Date.

In the senate, at the beginning of the first session of the present week, 204 bills had been introduced in the senate and 235 in the house, a total of 439 in both branches of the general assembly. Lieutenant Governor Miller says that the number of bills introduced so far would indicate a total of 750 for the session, which would be much lower than the number introduced in any preceding session. This is in part to be attributed to the fact that the bills presented by the codification commission cover so wide a scope that many measures are being held back pending the action of the general assembly upon them.

The suggestion has been made that the report of the codification commission, which constitutes what may perhaps be considered the most important work of the session, be laid over until the next general assembly, allowing the intervening time for discussion. The suggestion has met with little favor. It is probably true that two years' discussion would tend to cloud rather than to clear the situation. An illustration of this is found in the criticism offered to one of the bills proposed in the commission's report by one of the leading lawyers of Indianapolis, who says its effect would be to make Indiana instead of New Jersey the haven of trusts. Judge M. A. Chipman, a member of the commission and a lawyer of great ability, denies that this is the purpose or that it would be the effect of the bill in question.

Lieutenant Governor Pleased.

Both branches of the general assembly are especially fortunate in the manner of men chosen to preside over them. Clean and capable, both Lieutenant Governor Miller and Speaker Cantwell enjoy the confidence of all those having to do with legislative affairs and of the people of Indiana generally. Both of them are in harmony with the policies of the administration and are keeping the reigns of the legislative team well in hand.

Lieutenant Governor Miller is well pleased with the progress so far made by the general assembly. "The senate," he says, "seems ambitious to do things. The members are working hard. The committees are also desirous to get through with the work allotted to them as soon as possible consistently with what they ought to do. There has been some talk about the bills of the codification commission, but there has not been a fair chance on them yet."

"Eighteen hundred of the two thousand copies of the codification bills ordered printed, have been distributed in the different counties of the state, and the members are beginning to hear from their constituents, and then it will not be difficult for them to decide what they wish to do. There has been talk of dumping all the codification bills until the next session of the general assembly, but the senators, as a rule, feel that they ought to dispose of it now, and I look for some good work with those bills. The work of the two houses at this session makes a good showing as compared with previous general assemblies."

State of Legislation.

The house has passed about twenty bills up to this time. Neither branch has passed any bills originating in the other branch, with the exception of the two bills passed very early in the session—one appropriating money for the expenses of the general assembly and the other repealing the law of 1903 for the printing of engrossed and enrolled bills in patented type. The two bills are the only ones thus far that have reached the governor. Some of the bills passed in one branch have reached engrossment in the other branch. Of the codification bills, that on eminent domain has advanced farthest. It was ready for second reading in the house, but was referred back to the committee for amendments. Of the other codification commission bills that on criminal laws seems most likely to receive early favorable action. The bill on cities and towns is still being argued before the joint committees of the house and senate. Bills to regulate private banks are still in the senate committee on banks. The Guirli bill in the house and the Moore bill in the senate, to make remonstrances against liquor licenses good for two years, are making rapid progress.

A legislative apportionment bill has practically been agreed upon, but has not yet been introduced. The republicans will probably hold a caucus on the measure before or shortly after it is introduced.

The Spirit of Service.

One thing forces itself upon the attention of the most careless observer, and that is that no general assembly in many years has gone about its work so evident an intention to serve faithfully and well the people of the state. The new era in national politics, with its stricter standard of virtue which it has set up for the public service, has had its effect in the legislative halls of Indiana. Either because of the changed conditions manifesting themselves, or because of the warning sounded by retiring Governor Durbin and incoming Governor Hanly, the professional lobby that has been so much in evidence in years gone by, is either absent or playing a timid part during the present general assembly. This is the more remarkable because no legislature in recent years has had pending before it so many measures calculated to bring such a lobby to the front.

To say that conditions are better in this respect than ever before is not to imply that comparatively speaking they have been bad in recent years. Fresh from the enjoyment of the hospitality of the Indiana general assembly, Mr. Bryan declared in Connecticut the other evening that Indiana is "the most corrupt state in the Union." This is a slander utterly without justification. On the contrary it is doubtful if any state has in recent years conducted its public affairs on a higher plane or in a more wholesome atmosphere than has Indiana. It is doubtful if any one of the many state legislatures now in session is so free from the suspicion of corruption as is that now assembled at Indianapolis.

A Sense of Responsibility.

The overwhelming majority of republicans in the legislature, considered in connection with the enormous popular majority at the polls at the last election, instead of being interpreted as a license to raid the treasury in behalf of this or that pet project, or to carry partisan politics into the making of laws, as some very good and some very intelligent persons feared when the reports first began to come in, seem to have had the opposite effect. This overwhelming majority is accepted as emphasizing the thought or responsibility, and while neither the policy of the administration nor that of the lawmaking body will be characterized by an inclination to cheeseparing, which in the end always proves to be false economy, yet there will be no onslaught on the treasury in any way suggested or prompted by the remarkable vote at the polls. On the whole progressive conservatism seems to be the animating principle, and this most of the Democrats seem to be willing to concede. In fairness to most of them it should be said that the disposition seems to be to fall in and become a part of the general movement in this direction.

Concerning Institutional Needs.

There will be occasion neither for surprise nor for censure if the appropriations of the present general assembly are in the aggregate larger than those of the legislature of 1903. The demands upon the several penal, benevolent, charitable and educational institutions of the state have been increasing during the past few years with astonishing rapidity. Despite the fact that these institutions have been conducted on a basis so economical that the per capita cost of maintenance has been greatly decreased under that of a decade ago, the growth in actual population is making necessary not only larger maintenance appropriations, but the erection of new buildings and the enlarging of the old ones. The present general assembly must provide for the new institution for the deaf and dumb to take the place of the old one, the grounds of which have recently been sold at great advantage. It must make adequate provision for the new industrial school for girls, to carry out a long cherished purpose on the part of the state to give these unfortunate young women a better opportunity for reform than is afforded under the present system of association with an institution for criminals. Additional provision must of necessity be made for the insane, either by an increase in the size of the three smaller hospitals, or by the erection of a new one: the latter plan seems the more likely of adoption at this time. This in itself will necessitate an expenditure of more than a half million dollars.

Paring the Estimates.

The increasing demands upon the institutions now existing is reflected in the recommendations of the legislative committee for specific appropriations aggregating more than a million dollars more. These proposed appropriations represent not the wishes of the institutions, but what seem to be actual necessities, which it would be false economy not to recognize. The legislative committee has more than cut in two the estimates furnished by the institutions themselves.

Meeting Extraordinary Demands.

In part the increasing demands of the state's institutional system upon the state treasury are met by the annual increase in the tax duplicate. But conditions present and prospective demand still further accessions to the general fund. Fortunately the debt of the state has been so far reduced that the state debt sinking fund will during the present year meet every dollar of indebtedness due before 1915, or payable before 1910, and leave in the state treasury something like fifty thousand dollars. It has been suggested that without an increase in the aggregate tax levy, the new demands may be provided for by the abolition of the state debt sinking fund in whole or in part, and the substitution therefore of a temporary institutional levy of two or three cents on the hundred dollars. Some plan of this kind will doubtless be adopted.

A member of the general assembly the other day introduced a bill providing for the borrowing by the state of a million dollars to meet these demands. It is hardly necessary to state that this member sits on the democratic side. His resolution was entirely in line with democratic tradition and precedent in Indiana. During the decade ending with the year 1891 Indiana Democratic leadership nearly doubled the state debt by the issuing of interest bearing bonds as a substitute for direct taxation. Since 1860 democratic experiments along this line have cost the people of the state in interest payments millions of dollars. Representative Scifres' action in this regard is indicative of what might have been expected if the people of the state had placed Indiana democratic leadership in control of state fiscal and legislative affairs last year.

Strengthening the Nicholson Law.

There is an evident determination on the part of the general assembly to strengthen the Nicholson law,—not by adding any new features of importance to it, but by making the remonstrance provision more effective. In rural communities persons opposing the granting of liquor licenses have been put to endless annoyance because of the necessity of filing a remonstrance every time a new applicant appears before the county commissioners. Sometimes this performance is gone through with once a month, the purpose of the applicants being apparently to wear out the opposition. This is contrary to the spirit of the law and to good public policy, and Governor Hanly, in his inaugural address, took the reasonable position that the people of a ward or township should be free to eliminate the saloon as an institution if they desired to do so, long enough to permit themselves at least a good breathing spell preparatory to another struggle.

Institution for Epileptics.

Governor Hanly has voiced a demand for an institution for epileptics which in all probability will be heeded by the present general assembly.

Concerning the New Governor.

When Governor Hanly was inaugurated on Jan. 9 he sounded a keynote for his whole administration, and there is manifest in the governor's attitude toward all questions of public policy the same spirit of devotion to the public weal and to high ideals in public service which were expressed in his inaugural address. Governor Hanly has a distinct policy, and the impress of his influence will be upon the work of the present general assembly when it has been concluded. Governor Hanly's program includes the strengthening of the remonstrance section of the Nicholson law, the enactment of a railroad commission law and a system of public accountability for what are now known as private banks. There is little doubt but that something will be done upon each one of these propositions.

The Governor and the Editors.

The annual meeting of the Republican State Editorial association held here last week was one of the most successful in years. A notable feature of the sessions was the disposition to discuss methods of elevating the standards of a profession, rather than means of making mere money out of a business. At the annual banquet on Thursday evening notable speeches were made by Governor Hanly, Lieutenant Governor Miller, John L. Griffiths, and others. Governor Hanly spoke with feeling of the splendid work done by the Republican country press of Indiana during the last campaign, and said that it was entitled to a large share of the credit for an unprecedented victory. He appealed to the editors present for their support in behalf of the more important measures proposed by the administration, and brought from his hearers a response significantly enthusiastic. The resolutions adopted by the editorial association pledged the support of the organization to the recommendations of President Roosevelt and Governor Hanly. There is perhaps no state in the Union where the support of the Republican local press means so much. In the absence of a state Republican paper, the responsibility of advocating party policies falls upon what is known as the country press, which is probably stronger and more influential in Indiana than in any other state.

NOW TO FIX RATES

Congress at Last Has a Bill
Looking to Much Needed Reform.

A FAVORABLE REPORT

Has Been Made on a Measure Enlarging Power of Interstate Commerce Commission.

Committee Arrived at Conclusion of Its Deliberations by a Party Vote.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, by a party vote, has authorized a favorable report to the house on a bill extending authority to the interstate commerce commission to fix rates, increasing the size of the commission from five to seven members and creating a "court of transportation." The bill is a combination of the Esch-Townsend measures, with amendments taken from the Hepburn bill. Eleven Republican members of the committee were in favor of reporting the Hepburn bill lacking one vote of being a majority. Messrs. Townsend, Esch and Lovering were in favor of the Esch-Townsend proposition. Finally Chairman Hepburn moved to report the Esch-Townsend measure with amendments and then the Democratic members of the committee were called in and an hour given them to canvass the bill. During that time it developed that two of the six minority members were not satisfied with the Davey bill. The four members who did support it agreed to add two amendments, one providing that where a rate is named by the commission affecting two or more roads, the commission on the failure of the roads to agree on a division of the rate, shall make the ruling on the matter and the other expediting litigation over a rate has been fixed by the commission.

The full commission then met and after voting down the Davey bill by a party vote the Republicans carried the Hepburn motion. The Democrats gave notice that they would present the Davey bill in the house with a minority report. Mr. Townsend subsequently introduced in the house the measure agree on in order to have it printed.

The bill, as reported, contains twenty-two sections. The last section of the bill provides "This act shall take effect on the first day of April, 1905."

Congressional Doings.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The senate has agreed to vote on the joint statehood bill before adjournment Tuesday, Feb. 7, the amendments to be considered on that date under the ten-minute rule. Several minor bills were passed. After a protracted debate the house adopted the conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. As agreed to the bill carries $29,132,242. The postoffice appropriation bill was taken up.

The Statehood Bill.

Washington, Jan. 31.—It is by no means certain how many new states will be admitted to the Union under the agreement reached to vote on the joint statehood bill and its numerous amendments on February 7. There are prospects, however, that Oklahoma and Indian territory will come in as one state and that New Mexico will come in as another, leaving Arizona as a territory. Senator Beveridge, chairman of the committee on territories, who has charge of the bill, concedes that in its present form there is no hope for its passage. He says that his desire now is to give statehood to the million and a half people of Oklahoma and Indian territory at this time and that later Arizona and New Mexico will be admitted as one state.

Machen's Last Hope Gone.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The application for a writ of certiorari in the case of August W. Machen, Dr. George E. Lorenz, Diller and Samuel A. Groff, convicted and sentenced to two years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine each for conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the sale of the letter-box fasteners to the government, was denied by the supreme court of the United States. This deprives the defendants of their last chance of evading punishment in the courts, and they will now be sent to the Moundsville, W. Va., penitentiary.

Bank Swindlers Sentenced.

Mexico City, Jan. 31.—The men convicted of swindling the Central bank out of $463,000 have been sentenced. Manuel Batiz goes to prison for fifteen years and eight months; Assistant Cashier Cobos gets eleven years and Angel Batiz three years and eight months. Manuel Batiz was ordered also to pay the bank $239,000; Cobos $168,000, and Angel $56,000.

Explosion of Locomotive.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Jan. 31.—The boiler of a Rock Island freight locomotive exploded last night while running at high speed near Solon, killing three trainmen and wrecking several cars of stock.

ARRESTED IN NEW YORK

Man Said to Have Had Twenty-five Wives Is Found.

New York, Jan. 31.—Johann Hoch, who, it is alleged, married twenty women, was arrested at a boarding-house in West 47th street last night by central office detectives. He admitted his identity, although when first arrested he gave the name of Henry Bariels. He will be taken to Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—The Chicago police are elated over the report that Johann Hoch has been arrested in New York. For over a week they have hoped to hear of his arrest at some Eastern seaport, as they had information that he would attempt to leave the country and return to Germany.

Although the police hope to convict him of murder, the only specific charges they have against him at the present time are bigamy and wife abandonment. From all accounts Hoch has been married to twenty-five different women, and six of those have died under circumstances which the police declare to be suspicious. These women were: Mrs. Mary Schultz Hoch, disappeared from Argus, Ind., with Hoch in 1900; Mrs. Hoyle Hoch, died in Chicago, 1902; Mrs. Mary Steinbrecher Hoch, died in Chicago, 1902; Mrs. Lena Hoch, died in Milwaukee, 1893; Mrs. Mary Becker Hoch, died in St. Louis, 1902; Mrs. Marie Welker Hoch, died in Chicago, Jan. 11, 1905.

Volcano Causes Apprehension.

Mexico City, Jan. 31.—Reports from Colima state that the volcano of Colima is again active. Streams of dark smoke are issuing from the volcano daily, apparently from openings considerably below the crater. The danger, it is believed, lies in the formation of a new crater at an altitude which would permit of the discharge of lava. While many of the inhabitants in the vicinity of the volcano are uneasy as a result of the renewed activity, there has been no exodus such as has characterized previous indications of activity in the craicr.

Atrocities of Ladrone.

Manila, Jan. 31.—Details received concerning the operations of Motalon and Felizardo, the ladrone leaders, show that frightful atrocities have been committed. Natives who have expressed or shown sympathy for Americans have been hamstringed and their lips cut off. Justices of the peace have been abducted and killed. Among the papers captured at Mantalon's camp was a document offering a reward for the head of Governor Trias and also placing prices on the heads of other supporters of the government.

Vigorous Denial Made.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The Japanese government has made verbal denial to the state department here, and it is understood to other governments, of the Russian charges of violation of Chinese neutrality during the present war. The Japanese statement, just made public, is couched in strong language. It says that while it is not Japan's duty to defend China in this case, yet so far as the good faith and loyalty of Japan are called in question the government of that country, feels bound to repel the charges.

President at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Jan. 31.—President Roosevelt was the guest of honor and principal speaker last night at the 42d anniversary banquet of the Union League. The president came to this city from Annapolis, where he attended the exercises yesterday afternoon incident to the graduation of the senior class of cadets. An immense throng greeted Mr. Roosevelt at the railroad station and he received an ovation on his way to the Union League.
